County Donates Flood Relief

$915.55 Check Presented

The Appomattox County Flood Relief Fund, a joint project of the Appomattox County Jaycees and the Appomattox Rescue Squad to aid flood victims in Nelson County, was delivered to Nelson County on November 28, 1969. The fine residents of Appomattox County contributed a total of $915.55. Carl R. Deavers, Jr., State Director for the Appomattox County Jaycees, delivered a check for this amount to Mr. Randolph W. Brown, Chairman of the Nelson County Special Emergency Relief Fund Committee.

Mr. Brown stated that this committee had necessary funds appropriated for all planned programs in the immediate future for the Nelson County flood victims but suggested our donation be used for one of their long range plans. This committee functions as the direct representative of the Board of Supervisors of Nelson County and is authorized to disburse the special fund on a basis of need. This committee, under the leadership of Mr. Brown, had disbursed or committed $69,000 as of November 28, 1969.

Carl R. Deavers, Jr., Jaycee State Director, delivers a check for $915.55 as this county's contribution to an education fund for a young girl, sole survivor of a family lost in the August flood at Davis Creek, Nelson County.

The Appomattox County Flood Relief Fund, after much consideration, was placed in Priority 1, orphans of flood victims. Immediate needs for the orphans have been met but much concern for their future needs is justified. This Appomattox Donation initiated a $4,000 Educational Trust Fund for Brenda Lee Martin, age 8, the only survivor of the Robert and Mary Martin family of Davis Creek. Brenda was spared when she stayed with her grandmother, Mrs. Bessie Cunningham in Buckingham, Va., on the night of the flood. Mrs. Cunningham is now Brenda's legal guardian. This trust fund, if Brenda Martin does not attend college, will be added to the trust funds of Nelson County flood orphans advancing to higher education.

Ag-Ed Teachers Workshop Today

Appomattox — Agricultural education instructors in Appomattox, Amherst, Buckingham, Campbell, Charlotte, Cumberland, and Prince Edward counties will participate in a workshop in the Appomattox High School today, Thursday, December 11.

The meeting is one in a statewide series in preparation for special educational television courses in agricultural chemicals for adult and young farmers beginning January 20.

The conference Thursday will begin at 4:00 p.m. Leaders will be R. B. Carter, agricultural education instructor in Appomattox; and W. R. Jamison, coordinator of agricultural education in Franklin County.

The group will preview tapes to be used in the television series and develop materials to help those enrolled to more effectively and safely use the board spectrum of agricultural chemicals now available.

Pamplin Council Pays Tribute To J. M. Cobb, Sr.

Pamplin Town Council, meeting on November 29, passed a unanimous resolution of respect to the memory of the late J.M. Cobb, Sr., for many years a dedicated and effective member of the Town Council.

Mayor Richard F. Williams has appointed Garland Doss to fill the unexpected term of the late Mr. Cobb. Others on the council include Johnny Covington, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the Rev. F. H. Morton who left Pamplin for another pastorate during the summer. Also, W. C. Dudley, Roy Lucado, O.H.Tolley, Jr. and Thomas Carwile.

Pamplin Town Council meets the first Tuesday of each month.

Greeting Issue Next Week

Next Thursday's issue, December 18, will be the annual "Christmas Greetings" issue of the TIMES-VIRGINIAN. Businessmen, merchants, professional men and women and individuals are invited to join the many people of this area who use this warm-hearted way to extend best wishes to everyone. For a good selection of artistic greetings, call the business office 352-2811. You'll receive prompt attention and our best wishes for a happy holidays, too.

1st Aid Course Begins Tonight

A standard course in first aid will begin this evening (Thursday) at 7 p.m. at the Rescue Squad building to be taught by four Rescue Squad members.

The public is invited to participate and to learn first aid without any charge except for an inexpensive textbook.

The standard course, ten hours, will be completed first. Those who want the advanced course will complete the ten hours and then add five additional hours to qualify as a advanced course graduates.

This is a Red Cross certified course and is good for three years.

Instructors are Doug Seamster, Pete Doss, Jack Williams, and Jr. Beasley.

After Holiday Donation Needed

Plan ahead for after-Christmas giving . . . the Red Cross Bloodmobile comes on Tuesday, January 27, and every possible donor is needed to remove Appomattox from the "probation" status. The Woman's Club of Appomattox, with Mrs. Vara S. Stanley as chairman, will staff the canteen.

Chamber Of Commerce Discusses Prospects For New Industry

Chamber of Commerce president Roy A. Moon, talking with members of the board of directors Thursday evening, Dec. 11, said, "We shall continue to encourage industrial inquiries as we receive them." He reported to the board that the Chamber of Commerce and extension agents in the county as well as others talk with potential land buyers and developers from time to time.

"In one recent instance it was a water supply needed," said Moon. The prospect needed a larger water storage supply than we could guarantee."

Travel and tourism rated attention, also, as Appomattox Court House National Historical Park superintendent A. L. Rector reported that tourist travel to the park is 2,000 ahead of last year. The August flood conditions in Nelson and Amherst counties probably caused a loss of a few thousand more, Supt. Rector said.

President Moon, reviewing the work of the Chamber, said that progress is sometimes very slow in the first years of a Chamber's development, but that each step forward had been very useful. He spoke in particular of a study on natural resources prepared in May of 1968 with Dr. A. A. Fratrick as chairman — a study used as reference on several occasions since then.

A developer of community celebrations, the Rogers Company of Fostoria, Ohio, is making initial inquiries of various groups about a possible celebration by Appomattox County of its quasquicentennial in 1970, the 125 anniversary of the county's founding in 1845. President Moon had a letter read to the group from the company.

Among those attending the meeting were Richard Williams and Pat Lair of Pamplin. From Appomattox: Ray Noble, T. DeWitt Evans, A. L. Rector, Roy A. Moon, and Mrs. M. G. Stimpson.

Chamber treasurer reported 53 members and the board agreed to make further efforts by mail and telephone to enlist additional memberships.

The board agreed to become a member of the Virginia Chamber of Commerce for another year.

Banquet Honors Young Champions

More than 64 young football players, their coaches, young cheerleaders, parents and other fans attended a blue and white banquet Saturday evening at Appomattox Elementary School toasting the young Rebels' many triumphs on the gridiron this fall.

Two large football trophies were on display plus three baseball trophies, and additional individual football trophies for each player and cheerleader.

Appomattox, holding the 9 - 10 year old championship and the 11 - 12 year old championship in the Campbell County League was toasted by the guest speaker, Freddie Mitchell, AHS graduate and Hampden - Sydney grid star now coaching at Yorktown, Va.

Commonwealth's Attorney, Harry Gordon Lawson, introduced Coach Mitchell who amused the boys with stories of a $2.98 football, playing "grudge games" barefoot and with no helmets. He praised Rebel coach Gordon Bragg also an honored guest, for his years of work with local boys.

He lauded the work of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes to which he belongs, for its emphasis on clean living and Christian ideals.

Harry Gordon Lawson presented trophies to his undefeated 8 year old players. League president Roy Massie explained that there are not enough 8 - year old teams to produce a league tournament, but that as undefeated players, these boys deserve "a big one."

Massie also recounted the baseball triumphs of Appomattox County — that All-Stars from Appomattox teams beat Keysville for district championship, then went to Crewe and became runners - up for the state championship.

An invitational tournament for the farm team produced a third trophy for Appomattox. He also mentioned that many of the boys present were winners twice over because of football and baseball victories.

Coaches include Harry Gordon Lawson, John Thomas Paulette, Billy Chenault, Curtis Wooten, Calvin Tanner and Sam Ferguson.

Coach Murrell Ferguson presented trophies to the 9-10 year old players who are Campbell County League champions. Play-

"Football is the greatest game in the world," said guest speaker Freddie Mitchell (fourth from right) to these young football players, their teammates, coaches and parents Saturday night at the annual Youth League football banquet held at the Appomattox Elementary School. Roy Massie (fourth from left is League president. Four T-Rebel players were awarded special trophies: lineman, Mike Quinn; defense, Mike Preston, sportsmanship, Warren Coleman and best back, Vern Massie.

"Christmas Aglow" Is Theme For Garden Club

Appomattox Garden Club members have been meeting and working on plans for decorating the home of Mr. and Mrs. William (Bill) Jamerson's to be open Saturday, December 20th from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., and Sunday, December 21st from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The outside lighting fixtures of handmade brass lanterns at road entrance walkway and porches will be "Aglow" and featured in outside decorations. "Christmas Aglow" is the theme for the open house.

The Jamerson home is of 18th century Williamsburg design with rambling construction finished with authentic detail. The master bedroom and garage wings are attached to the main part of house in the manner of kitchen quarters of 18th century residences. The main house is of red brick with wings of random with beaded weather boarding featuring a gambrel roof of wood shingles.

Mrs. Robert C. Hubbard, Chairman of the Outside decorations admits the "show Place" home in Appomattox will be a challenge to her committee, but exciting in carrying out the theme of "Candles Aglow" for the open house.

Mrs. Robert C. Hubbard (right), chairman of outside decorations and Mrs. Raymond F. Jamerson (left), committee member, have the greenery, red velvet and other trimmings chosen to produce "Christ Aglow" at the W. E. (Bill) Jamerson home. The public is invited to see this 18th century Williamsburg design home decorated inside and out for the season during open house on December 20 and 21. This handsome lantern will be lighted to offer a glowing welcome to all.

$50 Check For Firemen

Appomattox County Jaycee treasurer Ronnie Spiggle(left) has a check for $50 for Pamplin firemen, here being accepted by fire chief H. J. St. John. Chief St. John, store and gasoline station owner and manager in Pamplin has served as firemen and chief since 1952. Richard Williams is assistant chief, Malcolm Inge is fire company president and Stuart Farrar, secy.-treasurer. The Pamplin volunteers use a 550 gallon truck and a 900 gallon tanker. They operate entirely from donations and support from governing bodies of Appomattox and Prince Edward county, the town of Pamplin, workers of Mr. Lynchburg, who live in the area; Kyanite Mine Corp., Pamplin Ruritans and others. To all the Pamplin Fire Company says "thanks" and "merry Christmas."

Fire Burns Acre Of Young Pines

A little more than an acre of young pine trees was burned Mon., Dec. 1, about 6:30 as Appomattox and Pamplin volunteer firemen plus local wardens and Chief Fire Warden David Smith rushed to the blaze on R. S. Burruss property, near Evergreen.

The fire, thought to be caused by a passing train, was fanned from the railroad right-of-way by a brisk wind. Chief Warden Smith said that local wardens Leslie and Lawrence Webber were right in there with great assistance, "We would have had a tremendous fire without them," said Smith. "We would just as soon have had them there as a bulldozer," he said, as further compliment.

Sunday's showers are a blessing to fire watchers and farmers, he added.

Full Probation Final Ruling For A.H.S.

A special Appeals Committee met in Martinsville, Virginia, on Thursday, Dec. 4, to hear arguments calling for the revocation of recent action taken against Appomattox High School by the Executive Committee of the Virginia High School League.

The high school had been placed on full probation and fined $100.00 for behavior attributed to the coach and a small segment of fans which was ruled in violation of the League's Sportsmanship Code.

The Appeals Committee upheld the action of the Executive Committee. Their decision is the final ruling available to the local school under the administrative procedures of the Virginia High School League.

Local attorney, Mr. Robert Carter, who had been retained to represent Appomattox High School was not permitted to appear on behalf of A.H.S. by virtue of the Virginia High School League Rules interpretation by William Pace, Executive Secretary of the Virginia High School League.

A detailed report on the probation will appear in the next issue of the Times-Virginian.
